

GUIDELINES FOR MODE OF REGISTRATION FOR STUDENT OF BACKLOG COURSES

The students may choose from the following options to clear their backlog courses.

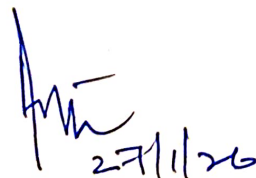

(a) Students who had met the attendance requirements in the semester when the course was originally registered may choose one of the following modes:

I. Exam Only Mode (EOM): In this mode, students can appear directly for the Mid-Semester Examination (MSE) and End Semester Examination (ESE) without being required to attend classes again. Their previously earned Continuous Assessment (CA) marks will be carried forward. Further, provided the date of the exam doesn't clash with their current semester exam.

II. Study Mode (SM): In this mode, students must register for the backlog course in the same semester in which it is offered to their junior batch as part of the regular curriculum, or during the summer semester if the course is available. Attendance is mandatory, and students must meet the required attendance criteria to be eligible for the examinations.

(b) UFM/Disciplinary action/Detention: Students who were debarred due to disciplinary action, involvement in unfair means (UFM), or shortage of attendance must re-register for the backlog courses in the semester when they are offered to their junior batch, or during the summer semester if available. These students are required to attend classes and satisfy the attendance requirements to qualify for the examinations.

(c) Year-back Students: Students who got year back must re-register for the backlog courses in the semester when they are offered to their junior batch. These students are required to attend the classes and must meet the minimum attendance requirements in order to be eligible in the examinations.
